Guv addresses Joint Session

Governor Vajubhai R. Vala being accompanied by Assembly Speaker K. R. Ramesh Kumar and Legislative Council Acting Chairman Basavaraj Horatti to address the first Legislature Session of the coalition government at Vidhana Soudha this noon.

Bengaluru, July 2- The first full Legislature Session of the JD(S)-Congress coalition government began at Vidhana Soudha this noon.

Though the Legislative Assembly had met twice last month for the floor test of the three-day BJP Government (May 19) and when H.D. Kumaraswamy proved majority of the coalition government (May 25), this is the first time that both the Houses are holding full-length sessions after the Assembly polls.

The nine-day session, during which Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy will present his budget on July 5, will conclude on July 12.

Addressing the Joint House of Legislature, Governor Vajubhai R. Vala congratulated all the newly-elected members.

Pointing out that the new government is committed to the welfare of the farmers, Vala highlighted the priorities of the government, which included completion of Metro Rail Network in Bengaluru by March 2021, measures for decongesting traffic in Bengaluru, development of rural roads and laying of new roads for better connectivity between towns and villages, setting up of super speciality hospitals in cities and towns, introduction of Israeli model of agri-technology on a pilot basis, framing of a fodder policy that ensures sufficient stocks at all the times, educational reforms, rejuvenation of lakes and rivers, measures for plastic ban and remunerative price for all agricultural produce among others.

Enlarging expansion

The two-word caption of today's column may need a footnote at the outset. Even as the intended meaning of the words may become clear in the lines to follow, the first word is about the rate at which the country's headcount is increasing from a given year to the next and the second is about the actual number added to the headcount in the year of reckoning. Having set the platform for taking up the various relevant issues concerning the land's population, one is obliged to start with the questions a) Is the country more populous than its resources that support life also of all other forms, including the denizens of the forest, the winged species, water-borne fauna and the so-called strays? and b) Is the rate (estimated by demographers) of current annual addition high enough to worsen the land's economic health in foreseeable future? These questions have not only been discussed in various forums and answered in two diametrically opposite ways in the not too distant past, even as the rate of increase in the country's headcount has been made out in some circles as OK and there are no clues on the action needed to hold both the rate and the annual increment of the headcount in check. The views available on record oscillate between optimism at one extreme and pessimism at the other.

India being a land hosting people numerically on the cusp of 1.5 billion that fall into different classifications on well-known identities of faiths, tongues, ethnicity, creeds, cults, literacy levels and economic status, one has to take maximum care in raising the delicate issue of which of these identities is to be singled out for not falling in line with the nationally important task of moving towards an inclusive society, as often mentioned by the top brass in the government.

First and foremost, it is incongruent to ask any or every family at large, particularly the newly-weds, not to beget children ostensibly to arrest the country's current population expansion. One is prompted to cite the Kannada idiom Hanihani goodidare halla...(which translates to: Little drops of water makes a mighty ocean) in the context of the simple phenomenon of each family's progeny contributes to the land's total mass of headcount. Now, coming straight to the issue of addressing the goal of restraining the steadily enlarging expansion of the country's population, one has no option except to say that the message is lost on the people at large, given the various well-marked demands of different sections of the land's diaspora based on their distinct identity, particularly the faith-driven identity.

The foregoing narrative including the point that the imperatives of generously procreating is not convincing to sections of one or the other faith in the land merits greater attention on one more count, namely, one out of 70 births yields a twin, according to a report. Thus, the compulsions of restricting increment in the land's population applies to everybody in general and nobody in particular.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

You own a house you want to sell. It's a spacious house, in a good neighbourhood. But over the years you've employed far too many domestic helpers to run it, with the result it's become ruinously expensive to maintain. You've taken huge loans to keep the place going. When you put your house on the market you find no buyers. Because in your proposed deed of sale you insert a clause which says that even though you're selling your house, you'll still keep a 24% share in it. This means you will not only continue to dictate how much domestic help must be employed by the new owner, but also reserve the right to interfere in the day-to-day running of the household. With such strings attached, it's not surprising that you'll find no takers for the house you want to sell. That imaginary house of yours is Air India, which the government says it wants to sell because it's become far too expensive to hang on to, and is incurring huge losses of the tax-payers' money every year. — Jug Suraiya in The Times of India.

China's mysterious cliff lays Stone Eggs

Qiannan Buyi: Chan Da Ya, a mysterious cliff in China reportedly lays perfectly round or oval stone eggs every 30 years.

Located in Qiannan Buyi and Miao Autonomous Region, China's Guizhou Province, the 9ft high and 65ft long heavily eroded formation has an uneven surface dotted with dozens of round and oval-shaped stones of various sizes. As the elements continue to eat away at the cliff, the harder "eggs" become even more exposed and eventually fall out of their natural sockets.

The eggs are made of much tougher rock, so the difference in time needed for the elements to go through the different types of rock explains the egg laying phenomenon. However, no one has been able to explain how a calcareous section that was formed during the Cambrian period can still be around 500 million years later, or why the stone eggs are all round or oval.

Self-taught artist's insane pencil drawings

Cape Town: Jono Dry is only 28-years-old and has never taken art classes, but his incredible talent allows him to create these photographic quality drawings using only graphite pencils.

Jono spends most of his time working on his large-scale drawings, and usually takes about 2-3 months to complete a piece, but he once spent a whopping 5 months painstakingly drawing one of his most complicated artworks.

Considering how incredible the result of his labor ends up looking and the fact that he only produces between 4 and 8 large-scale drawings per year, Jono Dry's hand-drawn masterpieces are considered very exclusive among collectors.

The talented artist draws inspiration from everything around him, and specialises in hyperrealism and surrealism, sometimes combining the two into artworks that mimic his ability to push the limits of what is real and possible.

VOICE OF THE READER

MRC is under PWD Minister, why is Tourism Minister trespassing?

Sir,

The recent posturing by the Tourism and Sericulture Minister against the MRC has been widely covered by the press and as a common citizen of Mysuru I was wondering whether the top priority of the Minister is to shut the racing activity and dismantling of horse stables or to address the rot that has set in his Tourism Department which needs his immediate and urgent intervention.

If the Tourism Minister is bent on converting the race course and the golf course for starting a Botanical Garden, then he should be writing to the PWD Minister for his consent and action.

I was also wondering if every Minister starts interfering in Departments controlled by other Ministers, one can only expect utter chaos and confusion among the officials concerned and it becomes free for all.

I believe that only PWD Minister has the prerogative of questioning the actions of MRC since his Department has leased the land to them. Therefore, the Tourism Minister has no locus standi in so far as MRC's affairs are concerned. Will our Chief Minister rein in such loose cannons in his Cabinet?

Do not shift MRC

Sir,

The Mysore Race Club (MRC) is not troubling the people of Mysuru nor the people have any problem from MRC. Even if MRC is shifted and the place converted into a Botanical Garden, which is not required for the time being, it will become a "Lovers Point."

Moreover, the Government is getting lot of revenue from MRC. Hence, I appeal to S.R. Mahesh, Minister for Tourism and Sericulture, to concentrate on developing other tourist places rather than the Race Course.

Sorry state of Nanjangud Road

Sir,

If one wishes to have a glimpse of the hell, come straight to the temple town Nanjangud and take a ride (or even a walk) on the R.P. Road, one of the two 'Raja Margas' here. The Road, haphazardly dug up a couple of years ago on the pretext of repair, still lies as it is, with none concerned showing any interest in its repair.

We hapless citizens hopefully waited for some relief once the Assembly elections that came consecutively (by-election in 2017 followed by the regular elections this May) get over, but no sign of any action till date. The elected representatives seem busy in their own activities. The entire stretch starting from Ganesh temple on Ooty Road till culminating at Srikanteshwara temple comprises big potholes, with jelly stones strewn around, rainwater stagnating here and there that breed mosquitoes, and make the movement over it a hellish experience.

Also, the connecting Cross Roads are at considerable height causing untold hardship for motorists either to take a turn on or to join the main road. The situation becomes still worse at peak hours causing minor accidents here and there. The parallel Road (MGS Road) is naturally crowded always with added movement of heavy vehicles like buses and lorries.

I appeal to all concerned to look to this civic issue seriously and get the Road done up fast to ensure safe and quick movement.

Cheluvamba Hospital gets 25 cots

Tender has been called for 100 cots: Dr. Radhamani

Dr. Radhamani

Mysuru, July 2 (RKB&KS)- Patients admitted at city's Cheluvamba Hospital can heave a sigh of relief as the hospital has got 25 cots which have been put at vacant spaces in the hospital blocks. Due to lack of cots, patients, especially the pregnant women and post delivery patients including just-born babies, were forced to sleep on the floor of the hospital.

Star of Mysore had highlighted the plights of the patients at the hospital under the title 'Cheluvamba Hospital faces 'Bed Trouble' even as it sees rise in maternity cases' on June 18, following which MLA L. Nagendra visited the hospital and had expressed regrets besides taking the staff to task. MP R. Dhruvanarayan, who had chaired a meeting on Friday last at the ZP auditorium, had asked the hospital's head to submit a proposal.

Now, the hospital has got 25 cots from PKTB Hospital and the cots have been put in available spaces in A, B and C Blocks at the hospital.

Some patients who were sleeping on beds on the floor at the hospital have been shifted to the cots and tender has been called for 100 more cots.

Disclosing this to SOM, Cheluvamba Hospital Medical Superintendent Dr. Radhamani said that 25 cots have been procured from PKTB Hospital, which have been put at available spaces in the hospital and added that a proposal to call for a tender to buy 100 more cots has been sent through the hospital's Dean and Director which is waiting for approval.

Co-ordination Panel accepts farm loan waiver

FROM LEFT: AICC General Secretary K.C. Venugopal, Co-ordination Committee Convenor Danish Ali, CM H.D. Kumaraswamy, former CM Siddharamaiah and Deputy CM Dr. G. Parameshwara at the meeting yesterday.

Bengaluru, July 2- Ending speculation over the much-talked-about farm loan waiver, Karnataka's coalition partners yesterday declared that Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy will announce the waiver in the "full-fledged" budget to be presented on July 5.

The CM will also announce a budget of Rs. 1.25 lakh crore for irrigation, a sports policy, new schemes like 20 lakh homes for homeless, and jobs for one crore youths in the next five years.

These announcements come a day ahead of the budget session. Decisions to this effect was taken during the second Co-ordination Committee meeting of the JD(S)-Congress coalition government on Sunday.

The Committee, which met to finalise the Common Minimum Programme (CMP), has however accepted the same with "minor" changes, Committee Convenor Danish Ali said.

Highlighting the above mentioned schemes (to be implemented in the next five years), Ali told reporters that it was a consensus decision of the Committee members.

All five Committee members — former CM Siddharamaiah, CM Kumaraswamy, Deputy CM Dr. G. Parameshwara, AICC General Secretary K.C. Venugopal and Ali — were present at the meeting.

Ali said that the CMP for the government will be brought out in the form of a booklet shortly. Declining to elaborate on the framework of the loan waiver scheme, Ali said that farm loans availed from both Nationalised and Co-operative Banks would be waived.

He also said a "majority" of the flagship programmes, including Arogya Karnataka - Universal Health Coverage Scheme, will continue.

"The drafting committee of the CMP has submitted its report, and the Coordination Committee has accepted it with minor changes. There are no differences (between the coalition partners) at all. It was all created by vested interests. It is unethical to release anything discussed privately between some individuals," he said, referring to the video clips of Siddharamaiah that had stirred the political cauldron.

Appointment to Boards and Corporations after State Budget

Announcing that the coalition partners — Congress and JD(S) — have reached an understanding to share appointments to Boards and Corporations in the ratio of 20:10, Venugopal said that former CM Siddharamaiah and Deputy CM Dr. G. Parameshwara will finalise the Congress nominees.

LIST OF CONGRESS PROBABLES FOR BOARDS AND CORPORATIONS

The following is the list of probable Congress Legislators for appointment to Boards and Corporations: Bhyrathi Basavaraj - K.R. Puram, Nagesh (Congress-supported Independent) - Mulbagal, T.D. Kerala Godman's 'durbar' in Mysore Palace

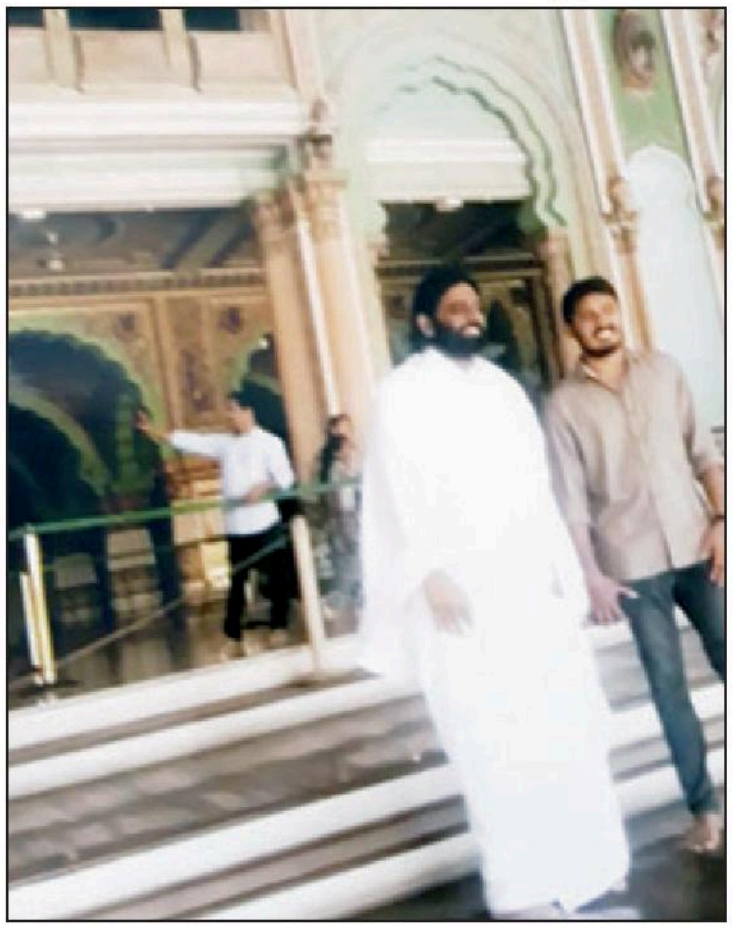
for spreading false news



Mysuru, July 2 (MTY&NNN)-A Constable attached to the Mysore Palace security has been suspended after a photo of a Godman from Kerala violating security rules of the Palace went viral on social media.

Constable Chikkanna, who was posted in the Palace Security, is the person who has been suspended. Swamiji Sunil Das, a Godman from Kerala, is said to be close to the erstwhile royal family of Mysuru.

Giving this as an excuse, he is said to visit the Mysore Palace regularly. By taking the Police security into confidence, he is learnt to visit even the strong-room where the diamond-studded Golden Throne is kept, thus violating the security rules.

Swamiji Das, who is running Sneham Charitable Trust at Palakkad in Kerala, is said to be sitting in Palace Security ACP Shailendra's chamber on his chair and holding discussions with the Police, taking photographs with his followers and loitering round the Palace. The photos of some of his activities have been posted on social media.

Even though ACP Shailendra is said to be aware of these transgressions, he has failed to protect the security of the Palace, it is alleged. However, as the photos went viral, Constable Chikkanna has been blamed for posting the pictures of the ACP with the Godman and suspended.

Plea for mercy killing: Suspended Constable Chikkanna is learnt to have written to Police Commissioner asking for mercy killing. Even though he has not committed any mistake, he has been harassed and suspended. Hence, he should be sentenced with mercy killing, he has written, it is said.

Meanwhile, Police Commissioner Dr. A.S. Subramanyeswara Rao told the media that there was no security lapse in the Palace. Constable Chikkanna was suspended for spreading false news with the aim of creating a controversy. Apart from that there are several pending enquiries against the same Constable, he added.

Houses burgled in city

Mysuru, July 2 (YDS&KS)- In separate cases, house burglars who gained entry into two houses in city have decamped with gold jewellery worth lakhs of rupees.

In the first case, burglars, who gained entry into a locked house of one Suresh on K.R. Hospital Main Road on Saturday, have decamped with gold ornaments from the house.

Suresh, on Saturday morning had locked his house and had been out. When he returned at about 4 pm, he found the door broken and on inspecting the house, he found gold ornament weighing about 384.5 grams and worth about Rs. 3.84 lakh stolen.

A case has been registered at Lashkar Police Station in this regard.

In the second case, burglars who gained entry into a locked house at Vijayanagar 4th Stage, have decamped with gold jewels from the house.

Vedavathi, the resident of the house, had locked the house on June 22 and had gone to her relative's house. When she returned on June 29 and entered the house, she found the rear door broken and on inspecting the house, she found a gold chain, gold earring, silver articles and a LED TV stolen.

A complaint has been lodged at Vijayanagar Police Station in this regard.

Illegal disposal of waste
becoming menace in district

Mysuru, July 2- The illegal disposal of waste is becoming a menace in the district. The villagers of Kaggalipura had brought to the notice of the District Administration a few weeks back about illegal disposal and hoarding of mixed solid waste from Kerala State at Mahadeshwara Rice Mill premises in Kaggalipura village, Sosale hobli, T.Narasipur taluk in Mysuru district.

Based on the information, the officers from the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) had carried out spot inspection and found that the area was filled with bio-medical waste, plastic waste and Municipal solid waste etc.

They were transporting the said waste in an illegal manner knowing fully well that this waste is hazardous to the lives of public and forest life and may cause diseases. An FIR was filed in this regard at Bannur Police Station on June 21.

However, even after the complaint was filed, the illegal transportation had not stopped and the KSPCB received a telephonic message from the Deputy Commissioner's office regarding the illegal transportation of the waste.

On inspection by the Environmental Officer along with Assistant Commissioner, District Health Officer and Tahsildar of T. Narasipur taluk, it was found that solid waste was being illegally transported and dumped at Survey Nos 53/1,53/2,53/3,53/4 of Kargali and Horala Halli villages in T. Narasipur Taluk. Mysuru, a City of Missed Opportunities

Today, roads in city's Central Business District (CBD) are clogged with heavy traffic. Most of these roads have been widened to maximum permissible limits to the total disadvantage of pedestrians. Parked vehicles occupy more than two thirds of these roads.

We have a wide range of vehicles occupying every inch of space on these roads and most of the drivers are least bothered to follow road rules. No surprise that the traffic situation is chaotic. In fact, it adversely affects business, which is the mainstay of CBD. But the point here is how have we reached this pathetic condition in a sleepy town, known till recently as Pensioners' Paradise? Answer to this question is found in the city's recent 'development' history.

Vehicle Boom Years

As per information from two Regional Transport Offices (RTOs) as on 30th September 2017, the city has 8,65,159 vehicles registered. Of these, 80.90 percent were two-wheelers, 11.32 percent were motor cars, 2.64 per cent autorickshaws, 2.03 percent goods carriage vehicles and 1.05 per cent delivery vans. Other vehicles such as maxi cabs, buses and contract carriages accounted for less than 1 per cent.

Significantly, the ten-year period of 2007 to 2017 showed unprecedented escalation in vehicle registration. More than 57 percent of 6,91,840 two-wheelers were those registered between 2007 and 2017. Similarly, 72 per cent of motor cars, 77 per cent of goods vehicles, 36 per cent of autorickshaws, 42 per cent carriages and 38 per cent of motor cabs were registered during the same period.

Thus it is obvious that 2007-2017 was vehicle boom period. Due to the very manner in which the business has developed in the city over the period and also due to the structure of our city centre roads, CBD gets the highest traffic density. And this is the reason for vehicular mayhem there.

Period of "Reports"

Interestingly, the very same ten-year period was also a time which saw the emergence of several "Reports." These reports could have prevented vehicular congestion in CBD. But unfortunately they did not as authorities failed to take follow up action. Only three such reports, which had great significance to CBD are referred to here.

Report on Comprehensive Traffic and Transportation Plan for Mysuru

In 2008, Department of Urban Land Transport [DULT] brought out a Comprehensive Traffic and Transportation Plan (CTTP) for Mysuru from 2009 till 2028. The CTTP set in place implementable proposals. It is the basis for development of the city and reflects upon the key interventions to be proposed. The CTTP is a policy document that has addressed transportation issues.

The report's assessment of existing public transport was as follows:

The bus route network is based on 'Hub and Spoke' pattern with routes starting from various parts of the city, operating on radials which are fanning out from the city centre and terminating at the city bus terminal. So all the passengers, who are destined for places other than CBD have to come to CBD to take a changeover as all the routes terminate at city centre. This creates acute congestion. The existing route network was good when the city was small. With growth, there is a need to change the routing pattern to facilitate changing travel pattern. This was a very accurate assessment of the existing situation nearly a decade ago, also at a time when the private vehicle boom was still in the nascent stage.

The CTTP recognised the heritage significance of the city centre and stated as follows:

The Mysore Palace has created a special interest for the tourists over thousands of years in the past. At present, the city core is losing its charm as the roads around this Palace have been encroached and haphazardly commercialised. The City Bus Stand (CBS) operating just beside the Palace has made the place congested and the vehicles parked on the roads have worsened the condition.

If only these observations were taken note and necessary steps taken, the city could have avoided the vehicular mess at the CBD. On the contrary, KSRTC ignored these observations and went on to build large new city bus station at the K.R. Circle, as also suburban bus station on Bengaluru-Nilgiri Road.

Nearly 600 buses operate from the city bus station and more than one lakh passengers embark and disembark here every day. More than 2,000 buses arrive and leave Sub-urban Bus Station and more than 2 lakh passengers embark and disembark here. Both these bus stations are located within in less than one kilometre from each other within the CBD. Any surprise that the city is facing acute congestion?

CTTP's development plans also included a parking lot which is intended to relieve the city centre of the substantial traffic congestion while serving to be a boost for development of business in the city core and rejuvenate the old-parts of the city.

There cannot be two opinions that the location of a multi-level parking complex at Town Hall was an act of murder. But not completing it even after 8 years is an unpardonable crime. Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), the executing authority of this wanton project, should be squarely held responsible for a brazenly callous act which smacks of corruption.

Though there is no doubt that CTTP Report looked deeply into other traffic and transport issues of Mysuru, it never got implemented and there is no guarantee that its recommendations will see the light of the day.

Subway on Sayyaji Rao Road in dangerous condition

Likely to collapse any time; apathy of MCC glaring

The locked gate to the Subway at the junction of Dhanvantri Road and Sayyaji Road opposite Bata Showroom.

The Subway filled with rain water .

The locked gate in front of Bata Showroom opened by miscreants.

Mysuru, July 2 (SBD&NNN)- The ugly, unimaginative and rarely used subway built on Sayyaji Rao Road is lying in a dangerous condition.

The subway built at the junction of Dhanvantri Road and Sayyaji Road near Bata Showroom is not used at all as the gates have been locked since several months.

Hence, the pedestrians are forced to cross the road through small openings between the barricades and the heavy traffic putting their lives and limbs at risk.

The subway built with the tax payer's money, which the citizens and even the shopkeepers of the area feel is so badly designed that it is not serving the purpose it was meant for. Added to that is the way the barricades on the most prestigious road of the city is placed which makes it a real eyesore. This shows the callousness of the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) officials and the elected representatives.

The recce done of the subway by this reporter shows the subway filled with sewage water. The garbage submerged in the water has resulted in the whole place stinking. The rainwater filled in the storm water drain near Dhanvantri Road is somehow finding its way and trickling from the top into the subway.

The fear is that the subway might collapse anytime and the MCC officials have turned a blind eye to the disaster waiting to happen. Even though the pedestrians are scared to use the subway, one side of the gate's lock is broken and is being used for illegal activities.

In spite of bringing these problems to the notice of the MCC officials many times through media and complaints to them personally, it has had no affect on them and they continue to neglect it. Urgent steps is needed to see that the unscientifically built subway does not collapse.

The public have urged Mayor B. Bhagyavathi and MCC Commissioner K.H. Jagadeesha to immediately visit the spot and order for repair works.

High drama at Hootagalli Police Quarters

- Trespassers claim house was 'allotted' to them
- Cops who went to vacate illegal occupants 'manhandled'

Mysuru, July 2 (RK&KS) - Tension prevailed for sometime at Hootagalli Police Quarters here yesterday afternoon when a group of 10 persons, including seven women, trespassed into a house at the Police Quarters claiming it to be 'allotted' to them. There was high drama when the cops reached the spot to vacate the illegal occupants.

It is learnt that yesterday afternoon, three persons identified as Revanna, Balu and Nagaraju, members of an organisation brought seven women on the pretext of giving the house allotted to them at Hootagalli Police Quarters on rent to the women.

They then allegedly opened the lock of a vacant house and led the women inside to show the house. The neighbours, who suspected something fishy, brought the matter to the notice of Vijayanagar Police. Vijayanagar Inspector Anil Kumar and staff, who rushed to the spot, began to enquire the three and asked them to produce the allotment letter.

The three persons, who failed to produce the allotment letter, began to argue with the Police and the women too joined the three in taking on the cops.

As there were more women on the spot, Inspector Anil Kumar summoned more women Police staff from N.R. Sub-Division to the spot to vacate them.

Soon, a high drama was witnessed when the women Police arrived to remove the women from inside the house. The women along with the three men not only resisted the cops but also allegedly manhandled them.

N.R. Sub-Division ACP C. Gopal, who rushed to the spot, conducted an enquiry and found that the claims of the group were false. He then issued orders to arrest all the ten persons.

Finally, Vijayanagar Police, with the help of the women staff, succeeded in bringing them out of the Quarters and arrested everyone.

Cases have been registered against them for trespassing, arguing with Police and preventing government servants from performing their duties.

All the 10 persons were produced before a Magistrate at his residence last evening and the Magistrate, who remanded Revanna, Balu and Nagaraju to judicial custody, has granted bail to all the seven women.

Miscreants fell sandalwood tree at Kukkarahalli Lake premises

Mysuru, July 2 (RK&KS)- Miscreants have chopped off a sandalwood tree at Kukkarahalli Lake premises and have decamped with a portion of the trunk.

The theft came to light this morning, when the morning walkers noticed the tree chopped and informed Jayalakshmipuram Police and the Forest Department.

The Police and the Forest staff, who rushed to the spot, conducted an inspection and found that the miscreants had carried away a portion of the trunk of the sandalwood tree which is used to manufacture sandalwood oil.

Meanwhile, morning walkers at the Lake said that there were hundreds of sandalwood trees in Kukkarahalli Lake premises and added that there was no compound constructed around the lake which is giving easy access to the miscreants, who can easily come and steal sandalwood trees as there are security personnel only at the Lake entrance gate.

The walkers have urged the Police and the Forest officials to deploy more security personnel to the lake to protect sandalwood trees besides constructing high rise wall around the lake.

Jayalakshmipuram Police based on the complaint by the University of Mysore have registered a case.

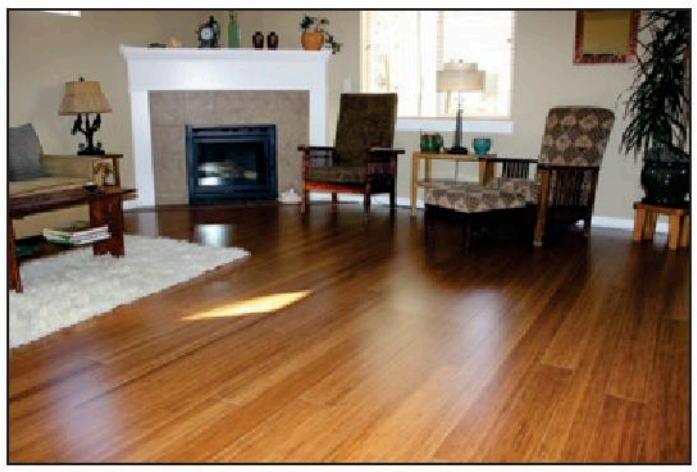
Vaastu-Feng Shui & Bio-energetics

By S.B.S.Surendran
Accredited Master Feng Shui Consultant

Channelising energy through floorings



In some parts of the world bamboo floorings are also used and they give a feel of staying connected to nature.

The art and science of Feng Shui is the skill of spacing, positioning, planning and orienting not just the structure but even the furnishings to offer greater support to the occupants. In short, it is the study of the energy around the occupants, its cause and effect and the effect of the immediate surroundings or environment.

There are many types of Feng Shui and Vastu imbalances in a place of dwelling as we are subjected to many kinds of energy fields like solar energy fields due to movement of Sun, geo magnetic fields due to the magnetic field interaction and rotation of the Earth, thermal imbalance due to temperature rise etc.

Research has discovered that most often one side of a house is subjected to intense solar radiation, while the other side remains in shadow region. This gives rise to the formation of what is known as "thermocouple" in the space around the house and leads to an energy imbalance in the premises. Higher the imbalance more severe would be its effect on the occupants. This kind of imbalance gives rise to the formation of 'nodes' and these 'nodes' are nothing but distorted energy fields. These nodes trap the sub atomic particles traveling along these fields and start resonating to give rise to micro level hazardous radiations which affect the existence of life forms, or in other words the occupants of the home. When left unchecked these thermal imbalances impede the smooth flow of energy in and around the place of dwelling. The art of restoring the imbalance or equalise the thermal difference and providing a harmonious place of dwelling is the key to good Vastu. Some of the general guidelines to counter thermal imbalance in a place of dwelling are:

- More open spaces in the north and east direction.
- Thicker walls and no openings in the south side.
- Planting more greenery or trees in the south to have humid environment.
- Most importantly choosing good flooring.

Flooring plays a significant role in beautifying the look of the house. Flooring can be natural wood, stone, wool or earth. Among the natural segment flooring we have marbles, granite and slate. Marble has never been out of fashion and is available in a variety of colours. Bricks are available in different shades of red and orange can also be used as ethnic flooring. In some parts of the world bamboo floorings are also used and they give a feel of staying connected to nature. Natural materials tend to carry the Chi energy more easily than synthetic materials — An example of this is wood, where the Energy (Chi) continues to flow along the grain. Each type of material encourages a certain flow of Chi and hence applying the transparency of the eight directions, you can establish which materials naturally suit each part of your home. Using the specific materials will lead to a more harmonious exchange of Chi and will develop distinct atmospheres in each part of your home.

Adhering to weighty classisim

Popular vocalist S. Shankar gave a Karnatak classical vocal concert at Sri Nadabrahma Sangeetha Sabha on the 23rd of June. He was accompanied by Nalina Mohan on violin, B.C. Manjunath on mridanga and G.S. Ramanujam on ghata.

Endowed with a sturdy voice, Shankar's renditions are known for neat presentation and clarity in diction, be it a Trinity composition or a D.V. Gundappa's song. The varna in Saveri 'Sarasuda ninne' in Adi tala by Kottavasal Venkata Rama Iyer set the concert in a lively mood.

Shankar had chosen Varali and Poorvi Kalyani as the chief part of his concert. 'Eti Janmamidi haa' by Tyagaraja adhered to weighty classicism. The composition found a detailed neraval at 'Sagara Shayanu nee' followed by good, not-too-calculative swaras. Nalina Mohan followed the vocalist in his style and intonations. 'Meenakshi Memudam dehi' by Deekshitar was musically rich with a well-developed Alapana, neraval and swaras at the charana — 'Madhurapuri nilaye Mani sadaye' — followed by a masterly taniyavartanam by B.C. Manjunath and Ramanujam.

In the post-tani part, Shankar chose to sing quite a few compositions of Mayuram Vishwanatha Shastri. His compositions on the occasion of our independence day 'Bharata Janani bahumanita jaya shalini jayati jayati jayati', 'Veera dhwajam Ati Shoora Dhwajam' on the Indian flag and 'Pranamamyaham manasa vachasa shirasa' were presented with verve. Four devaranamas — 'Manava nillisuvudu balu kashta' in Natikuranji with a preamble of a ugaboga 'Mana Shuddhavilladavage mantrada phalavenu?', 'Hare Venkata Shaila Vallabha poreyabeku nanna' in Mohana by Shreepada Rajaru, 'Deva banda namma swami bandano' in Shuddha Saveri by Purandara Dasa enchanted the audience. The mangala (closing song) 'Mangalam Bhavanute Bharata Janani' in Hameer Kalyani was also by Mayuram Vishwanatha Shastri.

The concert could have been more enjoyable if the artiste was not troubled with his voice which reluctantly co-operated with him. Perhaps this is the reason why he did not elaborate the main items but chose to sing more tukdas for the evening.

Scintillating Bharatanatyam

A unique Bharatanatyam performance by M.S. Keerthana and Spoorthi S. Rao was organised at Vijaya Vittala PU College under the aegis of its Fine Arts Club.

The Fine Arts Club was inaugurated by Vidwan H. L. Shivashankaraswamy, Senior Staff Artiste, Akashavani, Mysuru, at the college auditorium recently.

After seeking the blessings of Vighnanivaraka Ganapathi, they tuned in to Naata Raaga - khanda chapu taala. The song composed by Purandaradasa describing the incident of Ravana whose penance to conquer the world without seeking the blessings of Vinayaka went in vain were well presented with good expressions.

Next was famous "Natanam Aadinar," the composition of Gopalakrishna Bharati that depicted the richness of unique dance form 'Padam' set in Vasanta Raaga and Khanda Ata Taala, Nataraja, the God of cosmic dance who performed the graceful Tandava dance at the "Kanaka Sabhe" of Chidambaram.

The distinct conclusive dance form involving "Shollukattu" with various steps and movements were well portrayed in the Tillana composed by Ramanad Srinivasa Iyengar tuned in Kaanda Raaga, Roopaka Taala.

The repetitions of Pallavi with good padavinyasa rhythm in charanas was synchronously presented by both dancers with swift movements, excellent foot work and rhythm.

M.S. Keerthana and Spoorthi S. Rao presenting Bharatanatyam at Vijaya Vittala PU College in city recently.

Both Keerthana and Spoorthi have accomplished in the field of Bharatanatyam with achievement in both Junior and Senior Grade examinations conducted by Karnataka Examination Board.

Keerthana, daughter of mridanga Vidwan H.L. Shivashankaraswamy and M.V. Mamatha, is training under Guru Dr. Kripa Phadke. She has learnt classical vocal from Vidushi Dr. R.N. Srilatha, Sugama Sangeetha from Vidushi Rekha Venkatesh and Gamaka from Vid. Vi. Kru. Ramachandra.

Federer relishes Nadal rivalry as Wimbledon kicks off today

London, July 2- Roger Federer marked the 10th anniversary of his epic Wimbledon final loss to Rafael Nadal by claiming his rivalry with the Spaniard is the equal of the battle between football superstars Lionel Messi and Cristiano Ronaldo.

Federer will start his bid for a ninth Wimbledon title against Serbia's Dusan Lajovic on Centre Court on July 2 at 5.30 pm (IST).

But, on the eve of the Swiss star's 20th Wimbledon, the defending champion's mind drifted back to the evening he was dethroned by Nadal in a classic final widely regarded as the greatest match ever played.

Federer had beaten Nadal in two previous Wimbledon finals before the Spaniard knocked him off his perch in 2008 with a five-set thriller lasting almost five hours and late into the evening in front of an enthralled global audience of millions.

It was the match that cemented Federer and Nadal as the giants of their generation and accelerated the sport's resurgence as a multi-million pound industry.

Nadal's triumph — his first at Wimbledon — fuelled an epic rivalry that reminds Federer of the way Barcelona striker Messi and Real Madrid forward Ronaldo have slugged it out for the top prizes in football.

Before he can contemplate avenging that loss, Federer's immediate aim is to avoid a first round wobble against world number 57 Lajovic.

Despite all his experience, playing the first match on Centre Court is still an anxious moment for Federer, who skipped the clay-court season to stay fresh for Wimbledon.

Mysuru, July 2-: Need of becoming the global citizen is need of the hour but at the same time we should learn to keep Indian identity, said the scion of the erstwhile royal family of Mysuru, Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar.

We are trying to push ahead and come and lead the way. I think the greatest problem of old India is the global citizen has not come into play.

The need of the hour is we should become the global citizen and at the same time, keep our identity."

An identity of the global platform will help us a lot; it will help us to eradicate many of the issues. At the same time, right education will also help in overall improvement in the country. Apart from all this, we youngsters should also give prime importance in protecting our environment, he added.

WORD OF THE DAY

Mantic

Pronunciation: MAN-tik.

Meaning: Of or relating to the faculty of divination: prophetic.

Origin: The adjective mantic comes from the Greek word mantikos, which itself derives from mantis, meaning "prophet." The mantis insect got its name from this same source, supposedly because of its posture — with the forelimbs extended as though in prayer — reminded folks of a prophet. Not surprisingly, the combining form -mancy, which means "divination in a (specified) manner" (as in necromancy and pyromancy), is a relative of mantic. A less expected, and more distant, relative is mania, meaning "excitement manifested by mental and physical hyperactivity, disorganised behaviour, and elevated mood" or "excessive or unreasonable enthusiasm." Mania descends from Greek mainesthai ("to be mad"), a word akin to mantis and its offspring. And indeed, prophesying in ancient Greece was sometimes believed to be "inspired madness."

THE ODD WORD

Great in quantity or amount: many, much

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Break the ice

Meaning: To do something as a means of reducing or eliminating shyness, awkward tension, or unfamiliarity. To break down social formality and stiffness.

Origin: The earlier meaning of this phrase, that is, 'to forge a path for others to follow', alludes of course to the breaking of ice to allow the navigation of boats. The figurative use is quite old and was recorded by Sir Thomas North in his 1579 translation of Plutarch's Lives of the noble Grecians and Romanes:

"To be the first to break the Ice of the Enterprize."

It wasn't until the latter part of the 17th century that it took on its current meaning of 'establish a relaxed relationship in socially awkward situations'; for example, Samuel Butler's Hudibras, 1678:

"The Oratour - At last broke silence, and the Ice."

Moving forward another two hundred years 'breaking the ice' reverts to its original usage, when specialist ice-breaking ships were introduced. These ships, known as ice-breakers, were equipped with strengthened hulls and powerful engines and were employed in the exploration of polar regions. Soon after these ships were introduced, the term 'ice-breaker' began to be applied to social initiatives intended to get strangers acquainted with one another. In 1883, Mark Twain used the phrase that way in Life on Mississippi: "They closed up the inundation with a few words — having used it, evidently, as a mere ice-breaker and acquaintanceship-breeder - then they dropped into business."
